

At Home With Diversity - April 28, 2017

Tuesday, 07 March 2017

Today, more than one-third of all Americans are minorities and that percentage is expected to increase. Now more than ever, it's important for Realtors to be prepared to work effectively with an increasingly diverse pool of homebuyers. By embracing the cultural diversity in our market, agents are poised to gain a competitive edge and expand their opportunities.

For several years, the Grosse Pointe Board of REALTORS has offered the At Home With Diversity (AHWD) certification course, and we are pleased to offer it again this spring. This year, participants will receive 7 hours of Continuing Education! This one-day course includes the one time certification fee and costs just 99USD. AHWD also counts towards elective credit towards the Accredited Buyer Representative Designation, which is another course GPBR will be offering this year.
